Elba Clipper asks for citizen input on changing three downtown square streets to 1-way traffic

by Linda Hodge, Editor

The Elba Clipper reported in the Thursday, Feb. 17, edition that Elba Mayor Tom Maddox had presented a proposal to the Elba City Council for three streets around the courthouse square to be changed to 'one-way' traffic patterns.

The proposal was brought up by the mayor during a Feb. 14th council workshop and again in the council meeting following the workshop that night. Maddox asked council members to "look at and think on" changing Factory Avenue, Simmons Street, and Court Avenue around the square to one-way traffic patterns. He said the Davis Street [the fourth side of the square] would remain a two-way traffic pattern.

According to the mayor's proposal, he suggested Factory Avenue traffic flow around the square only towards Simmons Street; Simmons Street traffic flow around the square only towards Court Avenue; and Court Avenue traffic flow around the square only towards Davis Street.

As he was presenting the proposal, the mayor said the idea was brought to him by someone, and he thought it might be a good idea. Therefore, he asked council members to consider it too for further discussion at an upcoming meeting.

On Monday, Feb. 21,

Linda Hodge, editor of The Elba Clipper utilized the Facebook social media platform to also ask citizens their opinion on the matter. Following an explanation of the issue, the question posed was, "Are you in favor of the change or would you prefer to see it stay the same as it has been with two-way traffic on all four sides of the square?"

From Monday afternoon through Tuesday at noon, over 50 people had responded to the question with an overwhelming majority indicated they would prefer the traffic flow to be left alone and things stay

Elba man arrested after early morning high-speed pursuit

A high-speed pursuit ended early Tuesday morning, Feb. 22, with an Elba man being arrested by Coffee County Deputies on multiple charges.

According to Coffee County Chief Deputy R.W. Whitworth, it was approximately 1 a.m. Tuesday morning when deputies attempted to make contact with a reckless driver on Alabama Highway 189 S, near the Basin community. He said the driver of the vehicle, a 1997 Nissan truck, attempted to elude deputies, and a high-speed chase began.

The pursuit reportedly entered into the City of Opp, heading in the direction of

This is the 1997 Nissan truck being driven by Joshua Wayne Boley of Elba early Tuesday morning when he attempted to elude officials. The vehicle is believed to have been stolen from an Elba residence.

Andalusia; however, law enforcement officials were able to utilize and deploy 'stop strips' to bring the suspect vehicle to a stop on U.S. Highway 84 east of Andalusia.

The suspect, Joshua Wayne Boley, age 34, of Elba, was arrested and charged with attempting to elude, resisting arrest, possession of methamphetamine, possession of drug paraphernalia, possession of burglary tools, and possession of a stolen vehicle. As of press time this week, Boley remained in the Coffee County Jail awaiting his initial appearance hearing.

It has been discovered the stolen vehicle could allegedly be a vehicle reported stolen by an Elba resident Sunday morning, Feb. 20, from a residence on Old Curtis Road, and the Elba Police Department is believed to be investigating the matter further.

Whitworth thanked the Opp and Andalusia police departments and the Covington County Sheriff's Department for their assistance in capturing the suspect early Tuesday morning.

Robert Preaches announces his candidacy for re-election as coroner of Coffee County.

Preaches has been trained by FEMA in fatality management during emergency events, including Incident Command Training. He is certified by the State of Alabama Coroner's Association in aquatic death, child death investigation, HAZMAT, and mass destruction deaths. He also has attended various United States Department of Justice FBI Forensic courses, and he currently serves on the 12 District Child Death Review Board.

Preaches said he has dedicated his time and resources to the community as a volunteer fireman, EMS first responder, reserve deputy with the Coffee County Sheriff's Department for over 20 years, constable in Coffee County for over 12 years, and coroner of Coffee County for 16 years. Additionally, he served his country in the United States Armed Forces.

"I believe trustworthiness and proficiency come from my experience," Preaches said. "These traits have

He said he expertise and reliability were shown extensively during the tornado disaster in Enterprise on March 1, 2007.

During his time serving as coroner, Preaches said he has established ongoing relationships with all city and county agencies, the district attorney's office, Fort Rucker military authorities, and the Alabama Department of Forensic Sciences. Chief Deputy R.W.

Dave Sutton announces bid to seek re-election as Sheriff

Dave Sutton announces his candidacy for a fifth term as Sheriff of Coffee County, Alabama in the Tuesday, May 24, Republican Primary Election.

Sutton thanks the citizens of Coffee County for supporting him through his four terms as sheriff. He said the bonding with the citizens and city, state, and federal law enforcement agencies has enabled the sheriff's office to deal with numerous challenges.

"We have been challenged with devastating natural disasters, a tornado and flood that no one could have imagined," Sheriff Sutton said. "We faced drug problems which in turn caused more crime, such as burglaries and thefts. With the help of my staff and concerned citizens we have attacked these problems head on."

Sutton said the Coffee County Sheriff's Office has been modernized with the construction of a new, secure office facility and an up-to-date records management system. He said a great deal of money has been obtained through grants providing deputies with up-to-date equipment.

"Most recently, our office was able to obtain a high-tech laser device to identify illegal drugs, providing on scene analysis and eliminating possible exposure to dangerous chemicals," Sutton added.

The sheriff said his office has worked with the Coffee County Board of Education to promote positive relationships with law enforcement and provide a School Resource Officer [SRO] to all county schools.

"Our deputies receive the best training to ensure our citizens we have some of the best equipped and trained officers in the wiregrass area," Sutton said. "During our time in office we have established, for the first time, 24-hour patrol coverage allowing greater response time for all citizens."

If elected to a fifth term,

Whitworth said deputies responded around 2:30 p.m. that Friday afternoon to a call from a concerned citizen regarding suspicious activity. He said the citizen had called 911 after "observing a white female with bleach blonde hair driving a silver Volkswagen drive away from her mailbox and into her yard."

Whitworth said the citizen reportedly confronted the driver of the vehicle, and she drove away from the scene. Deputies were notified a few minutes later, and they were able to locate the vehicle and suspect.

The driver was identified as Ashtyn Larae Tucker, age 31, of Fayetteville, Ark.

"The ultimate tragedy is not the oppression and cruelty by the bad people but the silence over that by the good people." - Martin Luther King, Jr.

The Pea River Bridge on Davis Street is a deplorable mess. Engineers have long explained the bridge was going 'downhill' due to the heavy usage. Well, the heavy usage has basically been shifted to the 4-lane bypass, while the street, and the bridge, have been resurfaced. Now the fresh layer of asphalt on the bridge is coming up in chunks, causing holes that will soon be destroying tires, shock absorbers, and our nerves! City officials have said they will not accept the planned transfer of the bridge from the State of Alabama to City of Elba ownership until the promised 'A-1' condition has been fulfilled. We surely hope that the necessary repairs happen soon, regardless of any transfers of ownership, while our vehicles still have tires and working shock absorbers.

While City of Elba stuff is on our mind, this is one of those times we are grateful NOT to be a city official. The city government is strongly considering making traffic around the courthouse square 'one way'. Judging from the comments directed to our ears, there are lots of folks who really don't like that change. Now it may be a good idea but no one has yet clued us in on that reasoning. The number of those opposed to the change is not a small number and more and more of them are speaking out. City officials please listen BEFORE any voting!!

We are still opposed to the Alabama legislature dropping the requirement of a formal license before citizens can carry a loaded pistol, concealed or otherwise. Already America is seeing all too many people banishing - and shooting - guns that they clearly should not be allowed to carry. Now to make that legal for EVERYONE to carry their weapons anywhere is inviting even more shoot outs on the streets, at ball games, at other public gatherings, the grocery store, etc. A headline this week quoted the Birmingham police chief as being alarmed by the rash of shooting incidents in that fair city. Well, he ain't seen nothing yet . . . wait until all of us can walk around with such a weapon in our pockets! Civil unrest is well documented in the U.S. and this makes such a radical change in regulations even more dangerous.

Ukraine is the hot spot for potential war, if the daily news reports are to be believed. If their Russian neighbors are not bluffing and do launch an attack against the country, it will surely trigger an all-out war with the U. S., England and several other nations involved. What we didn't know until recently is that agreements were signed years ago where Ukraine would give up the atomic weapons left in their country when it split from the old USSR and in exchange was promised IN WRITING that they would be defended by the U. S. and several other countries. Maybe Russia's Putin doesn't think that will happen . . . and he may be right but . . .!

Our position on getting the COVID vaccine is very clear. That made this message from a sister more disturbing. She is a COVID survivor and listens to any news related to the virus. Well this week she passed on a report of an elderly man who had just taken the booster shot at their local drug store. As he started driving home he noticed he had blurred vision. After getting home he called the drug store for advice. . . . should he call his doctor or go to the hospital? We were thinking "OH NO!" Well the lady at the drug store urged him not to call his doctor nor go to the hospital. Our alarm bells went off again. She did advise him to come back to the drug store and pick up his eye glasses. Gee, what a churned stomach we had for a minute or so. We owe her one on that exchange.

Be safe, wear your mask when appropriate, social distance, wash your hands AND get the shot(s) and/or booster!

the same with two-way traffic. 49 individuals posted comments indicating they would like for the two-way traffic pattern to remain on all four sides of the square while two individuals indicated they would be in favor of the mayor's proposals. A couple of others left comments noting they think other issues needed to be addressed first.

Kelly Shehee, a local first responder, explained why he felt the traffic pattern needs to stay the same, saying, "from an emergency vehicle standpoint, I think it gives us more room to maneuver trucks through the streets with it staying 2-way traffic."

Chris Sutley made a plea to city leaders when she said she would like for it to stay the same, adding to her comment, "Please do not change our streets."

Jill Dunn replied, "What would the benefits be? I can't think of any, so my opinion would be to keep it the same."

On the other side of the matter, Jack Mullinax commented, "I vote yes on the changes with Yelverton changing to a one-way."

The only other citizen commenting in favor of the change was Laurie Chapman, and she simply said, "The more I think about it, the more I like it."

The Facebook question post made by the Clipper's editor is a public posting on her page that will allow anyone to voice his/her opinion on the matter [and to be able to view the comments] to help give city leaders a better feel on how the constituents feel.

Also, citizens are encouraged to contact their council person and let him/her know their position before a final decision is made.

The Elba City Council next meets Monday evening, Feb. 28, at 5:30 p.m., and this matter is likely to be discussed again.

Cuzin Lou Lou got herself in quite the pickle last weekend, and she is woman enough to admit - she was scared!

Sister had been going on at Lou Lou for some time that the pine straw on top the roof of their house needed to be removed before it caused any issues with the shingles. While Lou Lou agreed with the "insurance underwriter" and her know-it-all attitude on the matter, Lou Lou was not looking forward to having to actually climb up on the roof to remove said pine-straw!

Saturday was that day, and Sister suddenly decides Lou

Lou is "too clumsy" to go on the roof. Explaining there was no other way to get the pine straw down, Lou Lou climbed the ladder much to Sister's dismay.

She got up on the roof, and...Holy Moly...it was angled a lot more than she anticipated! The fear set in...not fear of the height, but fear of the falling!!

Needless to say, someone else had to get the pine straw. It was a challenge Lou Lou simply could not handle!

She hates it when Sister is right. Oh well... Until next time. God Bless and Keep Smiling!

The traveling Smithsonian Institution exhibit that highlights the role water plays in daily life and its impact on local communities is visiting Elba from now until March 25. Elba is among a select group of five cities chosen by Alabama Humanities to host the interactive exhibit. It is open weekdays and by appointment for groups and schools.

"Water has been a major factor of life in Elba's formation, growth and culture, and this a wonderful opportunity for the residents in and around Coffee County to consider how water defines and contributes to their community," said Sandy Bynum Williams, director of the Elba Chamber of Commerce, Main Street and Visit Elba Tourism. "It also gives them a unique opportunity to experience a Smithsonian exhibit right in their own backyard."

The subject of this exhibit, WATER WAYS, and one of the purposes of B.A.S.S. go hand in hand. Since its founding in early 1968, B.A.S.S. has become the watchdog of the waterways for sport fishermen. B.A.S.S. worked to help with the passage of the clean Water Act that has protected our Nation's water for over 40 years

Sutton said he plans to go forth in making Coffee County the safest county to the best of his ability. He said he would continue to strive to eliminate all forms of illegal drug activity.

"As to date, my office along with the ALEA Regional Drug Task Force, and the 12th Judicial Drug Task Force has made over 2,000 drug arrests in this county," he said. "Because of these drug arrests, crime rates and other offenses have decreased. With the continued support of my constituents, we will move forward in our next term."

Sutton said he is dedicated to the mission of providing high-quality, cost-effective, and accountable services to all residents of Coffee County, and the men and women of the Coffee County Sheriff's Office rise to the ever-changing challenges of today's society. Through his work with the Coffee County Emergency Management Agency, Preachers said he was able to procure a portable morgue for the area by securing a 100 percent grant from the Alabama Department of Public Health. He added that he is currently working with the Coffee County Commission to construct a coroner's office using existing space within a county building for an upgraded morgue and records storage.

"If re-elected, my priority will be to continue to serve the citizens of Coffee County with the same professionalism and dedication that I have shown during my previous 16 years as coroner," Preachers said. "I promise to personally respond in a timely manner to the needs of grieving families and commit to be available 24 hours a day, seven days a week."

How Do I Choose the Right Cemetery?
As you plan for the burial of a deceased loved one, you'll need to address a few basic questions - and the first of those questions is where? Often, individuals purchase cemetery plots well before they die. In other cases, they may leave behind a will or other document that stipulates where they wish their final resting place to be. Occasionally, though, it will be up to surviving family members to select a cemetery that will be suitable.
If your loved one was a military veteran, you may wish to look into VA cemeteries near you. Also consider most cemeteries have veteran sections, which should provide you with plenty of options for personalization. If your loved one adhered to a particular religion, it may be worth investigating cemeteries associated with that faith tradition. Otherwise, you'll probably just want to find a public cemetery. A good starting place is to ask your funeral director for a recommendation.
If your loved one is to be cremated, it's important to find a cemetery that offers either a columbarium or an urn garden, or at least one that permits urns to be buried in traditional plots. (Most do, but it doesn't hurt to verify.)
In researching local cemeteries, make sure you ask about the cost as well as any maintenance fees associated with the plot. Also ask what the cemetery will do to maintain the gravesite, and what your responsibilities will be as the family member. Finally, ask if there are any restrictions or stipulations on the kinds of casket that are permitted.
Again, as you navigate this important decision, don't hesitate to seek counsel from your funeral director, who will be able to help you locate the cemetery that best aligns with your needs and your loved one's final wishes.

In Recognizing This Famous Name in the Educational Field:

Washington, Booker T. Taliaferro

(1856-1915)

Washington organized Tuskegee Institute, a school for negroes at Tuskegee, Ala., and served as its president from 1881-1915. He was one of the greatest negro educational leaders of the United States and worked throughout his lifetime to improve the life of the negro.

Washington was born in slavery at Halesford, Va., on April 5, 1856. The family moved to Malden, West Va., after the slaves were freed. He attended a mission school, but largely educated himself. He entered Hampton Institute in 1872 and learned to be a brick mason. However, he turned to teaching, first at Malden, and then at Hampton Institute. He was so successful that he was selected to organize and head a new school at Tuskegee.

Washington believed that the negro could advance himself by being an efficient worker and by educating himself. Therefore, Tuskegee Institute taught a number of trades and professions as well as academic subjects. The school grew rapidly. Today, Tuskegee Institute ranks among the leading educational institutions of the United States.

Washington also started rural extension works among the negroes and organized a national Negro Business League. He was an excellent speaker and had many invitations throughout the country to deliver addresses.

One of his most famous books is his autobiography, "Up From Slavery" (1901).

Connected

Connections. We have all kinds. There are many options. On my smartphone I can connect with others by email, text, chats, and more. If I wish, I can even go retro, and actually call someone! If I wanted to really go old school, I could write a letter. (There is real value in that, as I will mention later.) We are also connecting right now, through the Clipper!

Every morning, my wife and I connect and catch up with our family in Virginia and West Africa via a WhatsApp family group. It's some amazing technology. I couldn't begin to understand how typed words, voices, photos and videos can be instantly sent and received across the world.

With all these communication tools, we can overlook the most amazing form of connection, one that is often underused. I'm speaking of prayer. Talking with God himself at any time and any place makes even the most advanced technology seem rudimentary. Please be assured that God really does hear, he really does care, and he really will respond! He even hears the "silent prayers," the ones that we can't verbalize, but speak silently from our souls.

God does answer our prayers of petition, when we ask him for things we need. But, we should be careful to go far beyond that when connecting with God. Prayer is about relationship. Prayer is communicating with him about whatever is on our mind, much like the way we build relationships with others through communication. The fact that God wants me as a friend is, once again, too much to fully comprehend.

About the letters I mentioned...I have some cherished letters from now deceased loved ones that I will always cherish. Their handwriting, their thoughts, their perspective on life, their love expressed is absolutely priceless. God feels that way about our connections, or prayers, to him. Revelation 5:8 mentions golden bowls in heaven's throne room, "filled with incense, which are the prayers of God's people." (NLT) Your prayers are valued by God. Don't worry about a right or wrong way. Just talk with him as you would a friend. Do so daily and consistently, and listen as he speaks to you. Connect with God himself!

Winners of the Blocks Rocks contest Fourth graders win Lego contest

by Paden Boothe,
12th grade student

Last month, a few high-achieving fourth grade Rebels took on the Blocks Rocks contest for the 4-H program.

This contest involves making their best attempt at building something original using no pre-packaged sets or directions. Taking up this challenge includes having loads of creativity and an engineering mindset which leaves high hopes for these

Rebels as they continue to grow and become more brilliant in the coming years.

The Zion Chapel winners included Lincoln Aldrovondi in 1st place, Elin Everheart in 2nd place, and Kevin West taking 3rd place. Our participants won both at the school and county-wide level.

These individuals will compete at the regional level later this year. We would like to give a big congratulations to our brick-building Rebels!

Cheerleader tryouts held recently at Zion Chapel Schools

by Jordan Saunders,
11th grade student

The Zion Chapel cheerleading squads are gearing up for another year of cheering on Rebel Football and Basketball Teams. Tryouts were held by Coach Kendra Watson and Coach Tammy Killingsworth in February. Emmie Cate Harrelson, a Rebel cheerleader of five years, said "I'm just really looking forward to my final tryout this year, and I have high hopes for a great Senior season." 10 girls made the JV team and 14 girls made the varsity squad.

School testing and career pathways at ZC

Reannon Odore,
11th grade student

Many students are unaware of this, but students must take certain assessments to graduate. Teachers then use the results of these tests to identify learning gaps and create plans to bridge those gaps.

To learn more about the testing process, high school instructional coach, Emily Herbert, was interviewed.

She said elementary schoolers take Aimsweb three times a year to track Reading; Grades 2-8 take ACAP once a year in the spring; Grade 10 takes the Pre-ACT in the fall; Grade 11 takes mock ACT in the fall and the ACT in the spring; and Grade 12 takes WorkKeys in the fall. The goal for students should be to show growth on these tests.

Herbert was asked what growth goals ZC is hoping to meet, and how will all know when those goals are met.

She replied, "Our secondary goals for ACAP are focused on reviewing our current content and assessments in order to make adjustments as needed so it is aligned to the ACAP assessment. We do this by using the ACAP question stems for math, reading, and science so we can compare what we are using to the depth of knowledge necessary to successfully answer the ACAP questions."

In addition to these methods, Herbert said teachers work as a team to provide standards-aligned assignments and a uniform approach to writing. This means that students are getting consistent writing instruction across the high school grades. This is very important because it sets the foundation for college and career writing in the future.

In terms of measuring stu-

11th graders taking the Mock ACT earlier this month

dent growth on the ACAP, Herbert said teachers will compare student scores this spring with scores from last spring and, as a team, determine what their next steps are in moving the middle schoolers to the levels of "meeting" and "exceeding" ACAP criteria.

Additionally, 10th grade students are measuring their growth through use of the Pre-ACT, a test they took last fall, to set a baseline for goal-setting. But students don't just "sit and get." Teachers explain the scores to their students and lead ACT test prep in their classes. Later in the spring, the 10th graders will take a mock ACT and create a baseline from which to grow. When they return as juniors, they will take two more mock ACT tests, and teachers will use the data to set additional goals to move students toward benchmarking.

Lastly, the 11th graders have been given two additional mock ACTs, and Herbert conducted a comparative analysis of the first mock to the second in order to see what areas need extra focus in ACT prep. They are gearing up to take the ACT this spring!

Though testing can help teachers and students set goals, Herbert emphasized, "we must be careful to not place too much importance on one test."

She said these tests measure particular types of intelligence and aptitude, but there is also the ASVAB as well as certifications and credentials students can complete by the time they graduate. She stressed while success for one student is growth towards benchmarking on an assessment; for others, it is measured in their ability to use their prep data to benchmark or exceed the benchmark for college admissions and scholarships.

"Though there are numerical values that determine if a student is 'successful' on a test, there is a bigger picture to consider in 'being successful,'" she stated. In addition to testing preparation, ZC is working hard to expand its pathways for students, and Herbert regularly collaborates with teachers to make sure students are prepared to show what they know on standardized tests.

She is currently working with local colleges to bring programs on campus that will educate students about opportunities that do not require ACT benchmark scores; rather, these programs are skilled, technical trades such as welding, administrative services, cosmetology, auto/diesel mechanics, aviation mechanics, and mechatronics. Furthermore, ninth graders are scheduled to visit LBW's campus and ESCC has been providing on-campus field trips for 10th graders so they can explore these options.

Reflections on teaching in a small community

by Ashley Storey,
English teacher

Though this is only my fourth year teaching at Zion Chapel, I feel very fortunate.

My first three years were spent teaching middle school English, and now I teach many of those same students in tenth and eleventh grade English. Teaching the same students gives me a unique opportunity to see how they grow both academically and personally.

For example, this past December, my eleventh grade honors students were responsible for completing an honors project and competing with New Brockton and Kinston juniors. After reading, analyzing, and discussing texts by authors such as F. Scott Fitzgerald, Langston Hughes, and Walt Whitman, students synthesized the multiple perspectives of the "American dream" and made an argument about whether or it is still available and achievable.

I was very impressed with all of the presentations, and along with a panel, I chose one group to compete at the county level. I was thrilled when Norah Martin, Gunner Sawyer, and Cruz Smith won for their impactful presentation. What is especially gratifying is seeing how they have grown since I first taught them in eighth grade!

In addition, Zion Chapel's senior group, made up of Madison Caster, Allison Moore, and Olivia Parker, also competed with other county schools and won. They are Mrs. Ragsdale's students. We have an excellent English department!

Another student I have watched grow tremendously is Harley Roberts. I taught Harley in eighth grade, and now as a junior, Harley recently earned the Gold Key award in the 2022 Scholastic Art and Writing Awards.

Harley won in the category of Personal Narrative and Memoir for an original essay about raising mental health awareness in schools. Harley's work will go on to compete at the national level in March. We are doing all we can to build up great writers at ZC!

The last students I'd like to spotlight are my tenth grade honors group. This is a class that was very challenging for me when I first became their seventh grade teacher because, let's face it, middle school is rough. From the moment I met them, I never doubted they were capable, but I did wonder if I would make it through the year with my sanity intact!

I am happy to say that we did all make it through that year as well as another one, and now I am their tenth grade teacher. Seeing how much they have grown as writers, readers, and thinkers is very rewarding. We have gone from me teaching them to write cohesive paragraphs to me teaching them how to write effective essays. They have gone from analyzing characterization in A Wrinkle in Time to analyzing rhetorical strategies in American literature.

If I had kept teaching in the large district in Florida where I used to work, I would never have been able to witness the evolution and growth in my students the way I get to here in Jack.

I have the best job in the world, and our students at ZC make it so!

Zion Chapel Varsity Basketball Team 2021-2022
with coaches Joshua O'Neal, Bryce Watson, and Bubba Lee

Zion Chapel's basketball season comes to a close by Elijah Barker, 10th grade student

As the Zion Chapel basketball season comes to a close, we took a moment to have a word with our very own coach, Joshua O'Neal.

During our interview, we asked a couple of questions regarding the overall performance of the present year and the expectations of the forthcoming years. He said the team had exceptional performances, and he was proud of the success.

He noted that his expectations for the upcoming years are to "hopefully compete with the best version of ourselves and our teammates."

As we ended our interview, we asked Coach O'Neal his personal favorite moment in the season so far, to which he replied with "closing Zion Chapel's original gym and opening our new gym was a win for our teams."

Long-awaited gym opens at Zion Chapel Schools

by Emma Killingsworth,
11th grade student

On Dec. 21, 2021, Zion Chapel held a ribbon cutting ceremony for the new gym, which cost more than $4 million to construct.

The process of building the gym took a year and a half to complete. The first game held in the new gym took place on Dec. 22, 2021. With a happy celebration, all three teams won their first game in the new gym.

The Zion Chapel community, alumni, and friends were invited to donate or share historical memorabilia from present and past school activities to display in the gym. Among these special items were pictures, plaques, trophies, uniforms, and a wooden "Z" that was from the gable of the original school. These special treasures have been displayed in the beautiful trophy case located in the lobby of the newly constructed building.

Among the special guests at the ribbon cutting ceremony were Brian McLeod, Donnie Marler, and Harry Driggers. The Zion Chapel community showed up to eagerly support the ribbon cutting and to share in the proud excitement that all Rebel fans felt.

Our grandson Lawson told me he is now an official member of 'Team Tech' and can't hide his excitement about starting to build its first robotics machine. Lawson has never really been that excited about playing sports, but has now found something that will perhaps help light a fire in his creative mind and make him even more competitive.

For what it is worth....

 The high school baseball and softball seasons will get underway this week at Elba High and the players, coaches and fans are all excited about getting started. The Tigers have taken steps toward being a winning team the last couple of years in baseball and should be a team to keep an eye on again this season, while the Lady Tigers are confident they can be competitive despite having only one starter back from a year ago. I know the players are ready to play after weeks of practice, and I hope all the fans come out and support their favorite teams and players.

 It was a busy week for the junior varsity teams last week and after a weekend of games it look like Zion Chapel may be the top team around. The Rebels combined strong pitching with timely hitting to win a couple of games in a weekend tournament, while New Brockton picked up a couple of wins and Brantley added a win to its side of the ledger. Junior varsity action is all about getting the players ready to move up, and there were a lot of players that caught the eyes of their coaches in week one action.

 The Brantley Bulldogs took another step toward adding another state basketball crown to their already crowded trophy case over the weekend with an opening round win at the region tournament. The Bulldogs lost a couple of games in midseason that gave their opponents hope that Brantley may not be a contender, but the Bulldogs caught fire late to win the area tourney and a sub-region game that gave them a spot at the region. Brantley is now just three wins away from winning yet another state title, and while the competition will no doubt get tougher every game, don't bet against these 'Dogs. Covid may have helped knock them out a year ago, but they are now well and ready to run.

 In closing.... Area fishermen have been finding their way to the Coffee County Lake in recent days and despite some cold mornings they will all tell you that the 'fish are biting' and the time is now to get the reels and poles ready for a trip to the water. The 94-acre lake has always been one of the top public lakes in the state, and nothing has changed. See 'ya there, and I may even give you some tips on where they are biting.

For another state title

Brantley Bulldogs are on the run

The fifth-ranked Brantley Bulldogs used an 8-0 first quarter rally to grab the lead and never looked back Saturday night to post a solid 66-44 win over the Central Hayneville Lions, in the opening round of the Class 1A, Southeast Region Basketball Tournament, at Garrett Coliseum, in Montgomery.

Central jumped ahead early and owned a 5-1 lead with 5:49 left in the first quarter, but Kedrick Brown and Khaliq Smith helped the Bulldogs rally to take a 7-5 lead midway through the stanza, and Jordan Parks sparked an 8-0 Brantley run as the Bulldogs stretched their lead to 18-10 late in the quarter.

Brantley carried a 22-13 advantage into the second quarter and then used the scoring punch of Jayden and Jordan Parks to open the stanza with an 11-0 run as the Bulldogs raced out to a 33-13 lead with 4:31 remaining in the half.

Bulldogs flatten Florala 70-48

The Brantley Bulldogs continued their late-season surge with a dominating 70-48 sub-region win over the Florala Wildcats, last Tuesday night in Brantley.

Khaliq Smith scored 20 points to lead the Bulldogs,

Brantley owned a comfortable 39-20 lead at intermission, but the Bulldogs never slowed down and when Khaliq Smith hit a free throw with 3:47 left in the third quarter Brantley was in complete command with a 50-23 advantage.

The Bulldogs carried a 56-28 lead into the fourth quarter and quickly took their biggest lead of the night when a basket by Morell Edwards pushed the Bulldogs lead to 58-28. Central rallied late against the Brantley reserves, but Brantley never lost command and coasted in with the impressive 66-44 win.

Jayden Parks scored 17 points to lead Brantley, while Jamarius Gresham led the Lions with 17 points. Also scoring for the Bulldogs were Kedrick Brown 9, Khaliq Smith 8, Daylan Davis 7, Jordan Parks 6, Tucker Kilcrease 6, Robert Shine 6, Morell Edwards 5 and Lorey Bogen 2.

which improved their record to 22-6 with the post-season win. Jayden Parks added 19 points for Brantley, while Morell Edwards added 14 and Kedrick Brown scored 10 points and grabbed 15 rebounds.

Elba Lady Tigers ousted in sub-region action 52-42

The Elba Lady Tigers saw their season come to an end last Monday night with a 52-42 sub-region loss to the Cottonwood Lady Bears, in Cottonwood.

Elba's Nina Williams scored 5 points in the first quarter to get the Lady Tigers jump started, but the Lady Bears answered with a trio of three-pointers to open up a 15-7 lead, and then in the second quarter combined three two-pointers with two three-pointers to open up a 27-16 halftime advantage.

Nina Williams hit two three-pointers and scored 8 points in the third quarter to keep Elba's comeback hopes alive. However, Cottonwood carried a 41-27 lead into the final stanza and despite 6 points from A'Lyric Whitfield in the fourth quarter the Lady Tigers were never able to get close as they dropped the 52-42 decision.

Nita Williams scored 19 points and grabbed 12 rebounds to lead Elba, while A'Lyric Whitfield added 12 points and 8 rebounds and Kendra Juarez added 4 points, 9 rebounds and 3 steals.

Saniya Keys scored 19 points and Kesha Anglin added 13 to lead Cottonwood.

The New Brockton Gamecocks saw their season come an abrupt end last Tuesday night with an 88-22 sub-region loss to the Houston Academy Raiders.

Anthony Silar scored 8 points to lead the Gamecocks, which closed the season with a 9-15 record, while Kamryn Mitchell and Adam Kesserwani both scored 15 points to lead the Raiders to the Southeast Region Tournament.
